PUTS BAN ON OPEN GAMBLING AND CHANCE GAMES IN CHARLEROI

Constable Stablein Notifies All Such Places That "Lid" is On

ORDERS ISSUED WEDNESDAY

Constable Stablein on Wednesday notified all pool rooms, shoe shine parlors and other places, that hereafter all games of chance, such as "31," base ball pools, slot machines and punch boards would be prohibited in Charleroi.

The officer began at the lower end of town and visited every place between 12th and First streets where any of the above games had been played, or where any of the slot machines or punch boards were located and notified the proprietors that hereafter there would "be nothing doing" As a consequence it is reported that all games of chance have ceased and that punch boards and slot machines have disappeared from view.

The action of the officer was a general topic of comment along the streets, and opinions pro and con expressed. It is apparent however that if the Constable stands by his crusade the "lid" will be clamped down on these forms of gambling, which it is said have been running wide open in the borough for many months. The Mail has been in receipt of a number of anonymous letters complaining of these conditions in Charleroi, and while no specific places have been mentioned, the writers gave evidence of knowing something of what had been going on. Many reports have been circulated concerning the gambling conditions which it is said have prevailed in Charleroi for some months, and the action of the officer in giving warning to those in whose places of business these games are said to have taken place would indicate that there was more than mere rumor in the stories that have been circulated.

It is charged by some that the action of the officer was the result of the action of Tuesday's election, but whether this be true or not, it is apparent that he has taken means to bring about a radical change in conditions in Charleroi.

MONONGAHELA SOLDIER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Word was received in Charleroi this forenoon of the death of Jack Albright at his home in Monongahela after a prolonged illness. He was a veteran of the world war, having served with Company A. 110th Infantry in France, as well as on the Mexican border in 1916. He was wounded and shell shocked on the 15th day of July in 1918. but was able to return to his command, when he was wounded a second time, as well as gassed. He was discharged from the service last winter, when he returned hime. He was known to many of the younger people of Charleroi, who will regret to learn of his death.

MIGHT-BUCHANAN NUPTIALS ON WEDNESDAY

Seward H. Might, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Might and only recently returned from service in the United States Army in France, and Miss Viola Louise Buchanan, daughter of Mrs. Frances Buchanan, were married at St. Jerome's rectory, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. William D. Fries. Only immediate members of the two families were present at the wedding. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Might left on the 3 o'clock train for an eastern trip.

F. J. JOHNS' BUYS BUSINESS PROPERTY

An important real estate deal was consummated on Wednesday, when F. J. Johns purchased from Mathew Wilson of Wilkinsburg, the property on Fallowfield avenue in which he is now engaged in business. This property is located at 510 Fallowfield. the lot being 22x100. and improved with a two-story building. a storeroom on the first floor and apartments above. The consideration was $26,000. Mr. Johns has been in that location for the past six years. having opened his business t here August 1, 1913. This is the second important real estate deal that has been made in that locality within the past few months, Eugent Fau having purchased the Phillips property, immediately adjoining only a short time ago.

M'GINTY SERVED WITH PERSHING

John McGinty, who arrived in Charleroi Tuesday morning with his wife and babe, desires a correction in the item which appeared a few days ago. He is a Pershing veteran and was with the First Division, Regulars in France, serving in the First Ammunition Tram. He was married in Tours, France, and arrived in New York on the15th, and came directly through to Charleroi. With his wife and babe he is stopping with his sister, Mrs. Mary Herron at 911 Prospect avenue.

McGinty was a former member of the Fifth Cavalry, and was with Pershing in Mexico when the chase was on for Villa. When the war with Germany began hewent with he Regulars to France, where he served for over two years. He is still a member of the Reserves, but just now John proposes to return to civilian life and is looking for a job, because he has a family depending on his labors.

Vote Remarkably Heavy at Primary Election Tuesday

From returns now available it is estimated that over 15,000 Republican votes were cast at the primary election on Tuesday. The nearest approach to this number was in the memorable campaign in 1908, when John K. Tener contended with Congressman Acheson for the nomination for Congress. At that time more than 14,000 votes were polled for the Republican candidates.

The Tuesday contest brought out a larger vote, especially in the populous centers, and not only because there were many candidates for each of the positions, and not only because the officers being sought were lucrative ones, but for the further reason that many inducements were offered to get out the vote.

It is generally admitted that the Republican party nominated a strong ticket, but it is also contended that many sore places have been left in certain quarters due to what many charge as perfidy on the part of some of those who were interested in certain candidates. Much money was used in this election, but apaprently it was not spent with profit by those who apaprently used it for their own benefit. It is known that considerable sums came into this section of the valley, and while the vote indicated that it had been used effectively, yet it was i mpotent in putting over the candidate in whose behalf it was used. However, it is likely that all of differences that may now exist over the outcome will be smoothed out before election day. and the party present a solid front to its opponents.

INJURED WHEN FORD CAR UPSETS

Joseph McCarty of Lock Four, an employe of the Independent Telephone company, was severely injured about 11:30 Wednesday morning, when the Ford car in which he was riding overturned with him, at O'Neil's crossing. Mr. McCarty was out with Superintendent Lamb making some repairs to the lines. and after completing the work, Mr. Lamb and another employe started to walk to Charleroi, McCarty offering to bring the car. How the accident happened they do not know, but the car was overturned a couple of times and McCarty received a number of bad bruises. He was brought to the company office and a physician summoned who found no bones broken, but McCarty was so badly injured that he was unable to walk. He was taken to his home.

DEMAND PAY FOR CARTING BOXES

Five of the election boxes used in holding the primary election in Charleroi on Tuesday were taken to Washington on Wednesday by Thomas Arrigo in his truck. A bill was also presented to the commissioners for transportation, and it was broadly hinted to those officials that unless there was some compensation for this feature of the new election law there was likely to be a scarcity of judges of election at the November primaries. Mr. Bly took the ballot box of the first precinct over in his own machine. All of the judges were able to make the trip to Washington and back by noon time.

GRAY AND CUMMINS WIN PLACES ON REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET

LEFT THIS AFTERNOON ON MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Berryman and their daughter Miss Esther Berryman, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johns left this afternoon for a motor trip to the east. Miss Berryman is returning to school at Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts. They will also be accompanied by Miss Esther Greer, of Ligonier, who was Miss Berryman's roommate at Smith College last year. After visiting at the College for a brief period Mr. and Mrs. Berryman and Mr. and Mrs. Johns will continue eastward and then return home by way of New York City. They expect to be absent about two weeks.

Upset the Political Dope And Poll Big Vote All Over the County

HUGHES AND BAKER FOR JUDGE

Any doubts that might have existed as to the nomination of Alex Gray for Sheriff and Erwin Cummins for District Attorney were cleared away Wednesday afternoon and evening, when returns from every precinct in the county with but one exception showed substantial majorities for both of these candidates.

With only Smith township to hear from the total vote for Gray as given by the returns was 7,963 and for Miller 5,531, a lead of 432 for Gray which makes him the nominee of the Republican party for Sheriff, and which practically insures his election.

Erwin Cummins polled 7,693 votes and Isaac Baum 7,316 giving Cummins a majority of 377 votes. This will place him on the ticket, and also means his election at the November election.

Other candidates selected are Hughes and Baker to appear on the judicial ticket. Johnston and Walker for county commissioners. John Aiken for Register of Wills, Ed. McGregor for Clerk of Courts, Harry Pollock for Prothonotary and W. W. Hawkins for Director of the Poor. The contest for the second place is between Lane, Browneller and Adams. with chances favoring Lane.

For county treasurer, R. G. Lutton defeated James P. Castner of Donora by over 1,800 votes. This vote was quite a surprise to the people of the eastern section of the county, as they believed that Castner would have a much larger vote, and many were firm in the belief that he would be nominated.

For Coroner. William Greenlee wins over James Heffran, the present incumbent, by over 4,000 votes.

On the Democratic ticket it looks as if Barnum and Ecker are nominated for Commissioner, although it may take the official count to decide between Gee and Ecker.

MUST RULE ON NEW BALLOT BOX LAW

An unusual feature in connection with the bringing in of the primary returns on Wednesday was the fact that under the new primary law ballot boxes have to be returned. Every return judge on Wednesday went to Washington having in his possession one of these heavy boxes. In some instances he had assistance. These boxes were all turned in at the commissioners' office. tabbed and piled up in one of the office rooms on the lower floor. They will be stored in one of the basement rooms.

How long they have to be kept in the possession of the commissioners is an undecided question. There will have to be a ruling of the court on the meaning of the law as to the retention of these boxes. Under the law as it reads it is provided that the contents of these boxes cannot be destroyed for eleven months. It is a question whether or not the opening of the boxes and the removal of the papeers is destroying them. If the boxes cannot be opened and papers taken out, it means the holding of the boxes at least 11 months.

That would hold them past the time of the November election, and mean the furnishing of new ballot boxes for every precinct in the county. The court will be asked to interpret the law on the matter.

COPELAND WINS IN WESTMORELAND COUNTY

In tre contest for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in Westmoreland county, Judge Copeland won over Judge Snyder by a substantial vote. Judge Copeland will not be opposed by any other candidate at the November election.

WEDDING BELLS WERE RINGING THIS MORNING

Wedding bells rang in Charleroi this morning, w hen Miss Martha Josephine Levy, Twilight, became the bride of Louis Kurtz, of Speers. The wedding occurred in the pastor's study of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, and the ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. John Burson. The attendants were a brother and sister of the bride and groom, John Kurtz and Olive Osborne. The bride was gowned in satin and wore a tulle veil. The study was decorated with autumn colors and flowering plants. Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz will, after a short wedding trip, make their future home in Charleroi.

WHY THE PEOPLE ARE TIRED

Addressing the American Bar Association the other day Hon. Elihu Root said: "The real reason for criticism of the courts is not that the people have lost faith in the courts and confidence in our judges, but that they have come to where they want less and less to be bound by law."

In response to this grave pronouncement the New York Sun says: "We do not believe, nor do we think Mr. Root believes, that the people are weary of the laws that have been respected throughout the centuries. What makes the people tired is the endless, footless mass of statutes most of them never needed, born only to be forgotten or ignored. The people are made tired by the dull procession of commissions which waste paper and ink and the reports of which fill dusty shelves but no bellies or pockets. The people are tired by, and of, statesmen who invent substitutes for human nature, for the Ten Commondments, for the Common Law and for the law of supply and demand.

There is no little in what Mr. Root says and there is more in the Sun's response. But much remains to be said. The people are also tired of partisan politics in the midst of a serious economic crisis. They are tired of not being able to get the worth of their money. They are tired—to give one example—of walking out of restaurants still hungry because they resent being held up or can not afford the prices demanded. They are tired of looking for remedial legislation and reading of practically nothing but the League of Nations wrestling match between the Senate and the President.

Pershing returns crowned with honors and there is still left with us enough of a fading enthusiasm to give him proper welcome. The great of Europe, including kings and cardinals, are coming to our shores, filled with enthusiasm for our achievements and for the great moral and patriotic heights to which the nation rose during the war. But what are they to find, what is to be the extent of their disillusion, how soon will they perceive that their wondering dream of the "greatest country" must be revised in the presence of disagreeable facts? For we are now not only fighting but robbing each other, and the representatives of every variety of revolutionary government-wreckers of every form of lawlessness are lifting their heads with hope and industriously pushing t heir plans. Where are the old virtues, the old sanity, stability and common sense of the American republic? Is there no Daniel to come to judgment and bring restoration? And if not, where is it all to end? We must hope and believe that the end will be such as good citizens desire, but the end is not yet in sight.

INFLUENZA 1919—1920

That there will be a recurrence of the influenza epidemic in the closing months of this year and in 1920 is expected by the Public Health Service, but it is confidently believed by the medical profession that its efforts will not be as disastrous as were those caused by the disease in its latest visitation. This comparative mildness will be due to the fact that many persons have been rendered at least partially immune to the disease, and thousands of the more susceptible fell before it last winter.

Unfortunately the scientists have not been able to identify the germ which produces influenza, but the experience at hand has taught us a great many things which should be done to protect ourselves from it. Surgeon General Blue says:

"City officials, state and city boards of health should be prepared in the event of recurrence. The fact that a previous attack brings immunity to a certain percentage of cases should allay fear on the part of those afflicted in the previous epidemic.

"Communities should make plans now for dealing with any recurrences. The most promising way to deal with a possible recurrence is [illegible] spare.

Evidence collected during last winter's epidemic points strongly [illegible] and from which it appears that [illegible] are only a little more than [illegible] making one of the modes of transmission of the disease."

One of the most important things to be learned is that a man's mental condition has much to do with his susceptibility to influenza, as to the case of other diseases. The person who allows himself to become frightened over the possibilities of "catching" the disease and who worries over his chances if he does "catch" it, therefore reduces his vitality and greatly increases the danger in which he stands.

THE LIVING CHURCH

Marion Ill., where the late Colonel Ingersoll once lived and which he aspired to see a churchless town, has become a veritable city of churches. There are now fourteen within its borders, two new structures having been started despite the big cost of building, which will give it the distinction of having more churches for its size than any other community in Illinois.

We don't know whether this is a reflex of the Colonel's teaching or if it is one of those peculiar coincidences in which history appears to take delight, but it serves to remind one that while the disturbing doctrines of Ingersoll are almost forgotten, the church he slighted is still a mighty and ever-growing force for good in the world.

So it is with all disturbers. The world listens, sometimes gets excited and throws a few bricks, but after a time sufficient for sober second thought, if settled back again to ways of law and order and the disorderly factor is forgotten.

Bolshevists, and their like, will please take notice. Within another generation they will be as extinct as the Populists, the Know-Nothings and the Greenbackers.

A GRAIN OF SALT

We must not take too seriously what President Wilson says of dire results to America following a possible rejection of the German peace treaty.

It will be recalled that he at various times has said—

That we are "too proud fight;"

That we would "not send troops into Mexico;"

That the adoption of women suffrage "was necessary to the winning of the war;"

That the "election of a Republican Congress would add two years to the war."

The unpublished dictionary of American slang defines a "nut" as the possessor of a mental outfit almost as sluggish and unresponsive as that of a "gink" and far and away a more hopeless speciment than the exhibit which the Cockney Englishman describes as a h-ass." It is rather surprising, therefore, to hear of the advent of the verb "to nut" as applied to merrymakers who, on beginning "to nut," are said to be "just nutting for fun" and are not to be regarded as "really nutty."

The anti-Bolshevik forces under Kolchak seem to have "caught their second wind." After a number of reverses to the Kolchak troops it is stated that Omsk, the seat of the anti-Bolshevik government, is believed to be safe and a new offensive may be started. Reports that the British and American banks may lend money to the Omsk government indicate confidence in the final success of the Kolchak government and afford hope of better days for Russia.

A big steel strike is threatened notwithstanding the efforts of government officials and others to bring about an equitable adjustment of the trouble. One of the great needs of the day, to aid industrial development and so promote prosperity, is a larger output of steel and iron. How the public welfare is to be subserved by a strike that will decrease production is not apparent.

The President says industry will return to the normal as soon as the peace treaty is signed. Well, the United States is ready to make a treaty of peace, but it doesn't want a one-sided League of Nations.

Far from rejoicing at the plenitude of American food in storage, the average citizen seems to be using violent language about it. But what a howl we would make if the warehouse were empty.

TRY A CLASSIFIED WANT AD

WAS LONESOME IN THE CITY WAS ONLY A LATE CALLER

Cumberland Mountaineer Could Not See Any Attractiveness in the Great Metropolis.

But the Girl in the Case Had to Help Unfortunate Suspect Prove the Fact.

Mountain lonesomeness, which overcomes sojourners from the outside world may ever have a diverting influence upon the spirits of the confirmed mountaineer.

Recently a traveler in the Cumberland while climbing the rugged trail in search of something to relieve the monotonous mountain life chanced upon a native who lounged upon a stump in seeming unconsciousness of the solitude.

"I see you are admiring the mountain scenery," remarked the traveler.

"Which?" yawned the native.

"Rather quiet?" suggested the traveler.

"No, thur is a dinged catamount yonder," replied the native with considerable animation.

In response to a hint from the native the traveler listened long and patiently, being rewarded at last by hearing the faint cry of some wild animal far across the mountain silences. With the air of a man who was proud of having a statement verified the native resumed whistling a tune which had been interrupted.

"Ever been to New York?" asked the traveler after an interval.

"Yep," nodded the native with a squirt of tobacco juice.

"Like it?" persisted the traveler.

"Nope"—more tobacco juice.

"Why not?" queried the traveler.

"Too dinged lonesome thur," yawned the native. "Made me homesick."

LESSON FOR ALL MANKIND

Might Be Well If Everyone Would Devote a Little Time to Care of His "Hinges."

Once upon a time there lived an old gentleman in a large house. He had servants and everything he wanted, yet he was not happy, and when things did not go as he wished, he was very cross. At last his servants left him. Quite out of temper, he went to a neighbor with a story of his distresses.

"It seems to me," said the neighbor, sagaciously, "'twould be well for you to oil yourself a little."

"To oil myself?"

"Yes; and I will explain. Some time ago one of the doors in my house creaked. Nobody, therefore, liked to go in or out by it. One day I oiled its hinges, and it has been constantly used by everybody ever since."

"Then you think I am like the creaking door," cried the old gentleman. "How do you want me to oil myself?"

"That's an easy matter," said the neighbor. "Go home and engage a servant, and when he does right praise him. If, on the contrary, he does something amiss, do not be cross: oil your voice and words with the oil of love."

The old gentleman went home, and no harsh or ugly words were ever heard in the house afterward. Every family should have a bottle of this precious oil; for every family is liable to have a creaking hinge in the shape of a fretful disposition, a cross temper, a harsh tone, or a fault-finding spirit.—The Mediator.

The Lightest Wood.

The lightest wood in existence is the wood of ambach, a leguminous plant that grows near Lake Chad and on the tributaries of the upper Nile. The tree, which is sometimes called the pith tree, often attains a diameter of six inches in the two or three years of its life. At that age it dies and another shoot starts from its roots. When cut, the wood is almost white and is soft and brittle, like the pith of the elder. Some of the wood is exported to the United States and England to make floats for fishing tackle, and in general to be used as a substitute for cork. Ambach wood contains minute crystals of calcium oxalate, which quickly dull the axes and knives of the choppers. On the other hand, the presence of the crystals makes the wood, it is said, an excellent substitute for the usual razor strop.—Scientific American.

Majesty of the Law.

The difficult part of legislation is inserting the majesty in the proper proportion. Almost any old legislator can pass laws, but when they try to make them majestic, nine out of ten legislators, perhaps more, fail utterly. It is not the law itself that inspires people with respect, and makes them tremble and genuflect and kowtow; it is the majesty of the law. Occasionally, however, we will find a law that has too much majesty, so much that all the common sense has been crowded out. This is as bad as not enough. There are many laws on our statute books, but only a very few of them are properly majesticated. Hence the confusion and other annoyances that make contempt of court so common these days.—Life.

Scientific Accuracy.

A certain professor in a New England scientific school put this question upon the board in an examination of his class:

"What steps would you take to obtain the height of a great modern skyscraper by use of an aneroid barometer?"

One student answered:

"To obtain the most accurate results from the use of this instrument in the circumstances, I would tie the aneroid barometer to a string, lower it from the roof and then measure the string."

KEEP OUT OF FAMILY ROWS

Outsider Never Can Understand the Feelings That Have Actuated the Participants Therein.

Only hardy persons dare to mix themselves up in quarrels with a view to effecting reconciliations. Sometimes they are actuated by a noble desire for peace, mitigated, no doubt, by a wish to be in the thick of any interesting situation.

Sometimes also they do good—when the quarrel is not a family affair. From such a quarrel friends, acquaintances and even "in-law" relatives had better stand aside, not so much lest the fate of the rash person who interposes befall them, but lest they make the breach worse.

No physician from the outside can judge of the seriousness of wounds given in a family fight.

Wounds which seem fatal to affection heal at once, and scratches fester and cannot be mollified.

The affection which is the natural and usual outcome of relationship may be counted on with too much certainty; but the members of one family, though they may not like, do in a marvelous way understand one another.

It is true that sympathy is the great enlightener, but it is not the only one. Blood gives a comprehension which common interests, and even great affection, often fail to impart.

Have a Pleasant Kitchen.

The kitchen in most farm houses is generally a very unattractive place, and yet it should not be. This room is the one place in the house that should be the lightest, brightest, and most attractive, as it is here that the housewife spends the greatest part of her busy hours.

In too many cases, the kitchen is not well lighted, and the colors chosen for paper and paint are anything but bright and cheerful. The effect cannot be anything but depressing to one who spends much time in a room of this sort day after day; nor are the surroundings conducive to cheerfulness to the other members of the family. So often we hear girls and their mothers express themselves about kitchen work as though it were the most despicable drudgery. Beautiful surroundings will naturally beautify the task.

Love the Grand Remedy.

Love is the grand remedy for all the ills of the mind. It is the great solvent for anger, hatred, jealousy and all the bitter animosities. If properly understood and applied it would cure every sinsick soul in existence.

If you have been trying to put out the fires of hatred by adding more hatred; if you have been meeting anger with more anger, change your prescription. Take Love's balm for all that blights happiness or breeds discontent. You will find it a sovereign panacea for malice, revenge and all the brutal propensities. As cruelty melts before kindness, so the evil passions meet their antidote in sweet charity.—Success.

Wanted—A Connecting Link.

A new book should find as ready an outlet from the publisher to the reader as there now is for a new collar, a breakfast food or a pill. Through the wholesale dealers in men's furnishings, groceries or drugs we can cover the country in a few days. Through the system of small stores in all parts of the city, and at every important crossroads in the country, the new product is brought to the attention of millions of people almost automatically. If advertising has prepared the way, the public looks at the new product, and, if it is attractive, buys it. These conditions are what we need in the book trade.—Atlantic.

CAPTAIN, GEE MAY BE DEFEATED

It looks as if Capt. James E. Gee, of Monongahela, who was running on the Democratic ticket for county commissioner, had been defeated for the office. Capt. Gee was the only soldier candidate for that office, but this fact was not strong enough to give him enough votes to secure his nomination.

Reason for "Greenbacks."

Why the United States bank notes are printed with green backs is not generally known, although there is most excellent reason for it The great drawback to paper currency is the likelihood of its being counterfeited and therefore experts are constantly at work to contrive ways of making it impossible to copy such bills. Stacy J. Edson was the man who in 1877 invented the green ink that Uncle Sam uses on his bank bills The ink, which was patented is anti-photographic—that is, it cannot be photographed, nor can counterfeiters in trying to get a facsimile of the notes remove it with alkalies. The secret of the ingredients of the ink is of course carefully preserved.

WOMEN DOING WAR WORK

During the war women were called into almost every vocation in life and right well did they assume the responsibilities and fill such positions. In many instances, however, their strength has been overtaxed, and such ailments as are peculiar to their sex have fastened themselves upon them. Such women should remember there is a tried and true remedy for their troubles in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than three generations has been relieving the women of America from some of the worst forms of female ills.

STAND BY THE AMERICAN CREED

The Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in convention assembled in Atlantic City, to further emphasize their position at the present time, when so much unrest appears to exist throughout the country, passed the following resolution:

Whereas, the "American's Creed," Which has been accepted by the National Publicity Committee on behalf of the United States, contains within itself expressions of patriotism and loyalty, which cannot help but inspire every true American citizen, and

Whereas, members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks should be ever ready to exemplify the principles set forth in said "American's Creed." which is as follows:

I believe in the United States of America as a Government of the people, by the people. for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a soverign nation of many soverign States; a perfect union. one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it: to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its Flag: and to defend it against all enemies.

Resolved: That the recommendation of the Grand Exalted Ruler that the said "American's Creed" receive the approval of the Grand Lodge, be adopted; and further be it

Resolved: That the incoming Grand Exalted Ruler be empowered, if in his judgement it is deemed expedient, to suggest to Subordinate Lodges that members and initiates on the night of initiation subscribe to said creed in unison following its reading by the Exalted Ruler of the Lodge.

FROM DUQUESNE TO TELL HIS STORY

Well Known Insurance Agt. Relates How Ten-Herbs Restored His Health

It is always interesting to listen to the statement of a friend, especially when you know that he is sincere and honest in what he says. Added interest is created in a statement coming from a man of standing and unquestioned integrity. Such a man is Mr. Thomas Askem of No. 118 Railroad street, Duquesne, a well-known Insurance Agent, who has a wide acquaintance in local business circles in Pittsburg. He said:

"I have been under treatment for the past year for stomach trouble, and my stomach was in such a weak condition that I could hardly keep down the lightest kind of food; I was troubled with gas, had headaches, terrible indigestion and pains in my back; I was very nervous and scarcely ever able to sleep at night and in the morning would be all tired out and unfit for my work. I had no ambition or energy whatever. Nothing I had taken did me any good until I started to take your Ten-Herbs and now I am feeling fine; I sleep well and am able to eat my meals. I am greatly improved in every way since taking Ten-Herbs.

Ten-Herbs cleanses, strengthens the kidneys and tones up the digestive organs. It sharpens the appetite and promotes sound restful sleep.

CHILDREN MUST ATTEND SCHOOL

Sixteen boys and girls of Donora who seem to have arrived at the conclusion that their education is completed and that special permits allowing them to work are sufficient to relieve them from the operation of the law, are due for prosecution under the truancy law, according to an announcement made by Superintendent Gilland of the Donora schools. Parents have been notified that the boys and girls who have been absenting themselves must be in continuation school or charges will be filed against the parents and the pupils.

The sixteen absentees are between 14 and 16 years of age. They have had permits to be employed during the vacation months, but the employers say they have all quit their jobs. For two weeks they have been idle and out of school, possibly being under the impression that no further attendance was required of them. The continuation classes were opened for these pupils, but none of them appeared. They are required by law to attend at least one day per week, but this they have failed to do. Now the authorities propose to act, and the truant officer will insist on their attendance at school, in the failure of which suits will be entered.

TO BUILD DOCK AT DONORA ZINC WORKS

The government engineers have notified the borough authorities of Donora that a new loading dock will be constructed on the Monongahela river by the Donora zinc works about two hundred feet below the foot of Scott s treet. This improvement will be made at once, and is to be used for the loading of products from the lower mill. It is intimated that this improvement is only a small part of several important additions that have been planned for, but which have been held up pending the adjustment of labor conditions.

COL. AIKEN GETS A GOOD VOTE IN COUNTY.

The nomination of Lt. Col. John Aiken for Register of Wills was largely due to the influence of the soldier vote in the county. He was endorsed by the old members of Co. H. of Washington, of which he was former Captain, and they backed him in a most cordial manner. This stand influenced many other soldier boys in the county and they gave the Colonel a vote of confidence. Col. Aiken was one of the few soldiers on the Republican ticket and his vote was a splendid testimonial to the record he made while serving in the army.
